1. Policy Statement

1.1 The purpose of this policy and its associated documents is to ensure that University Hospitals Birmingham NHS Foundation Trust (“the Trust”) is committed to leading and promoting diversity, equal opportunities and supporting human rights in terms of the provision of health services for the community it serves and in its practice as a leading employer.

1.2 The Trust aims to create an organisation which values diversity and promotes equal opportunities regardless of age, disability, ethnic origin, sex, sexual orientation, gender reassignment, race, religion or belief, marriage or civil partnership, pregnancy or maternity. Discrimination against a Trans person must be challenged, whether the discrimination stems from staff, patients or the public. This policy supports the Trust in its delivery of inclusive services and ensures that it does not breach the Equality Act 2010.

1.3 The term “Trans” is the preferred term used by transgender people. It is an umbrella term used to cover numerous types of gender identity such as transsexual, transvestite, non-binary bi-gendered or non-gendered. Definitions and abbreviations are detailed in Appendix A.

1.4 This policy sets out the expectations and other considerations for Trust employees, when dealing with Trans patients. It also applies to Trust employees who are transgender and states that gender reassignment must be treated with respect and dignity by managers and teams. Staff must be treated as the gender they identify with.

2 Scope

This policy applies to all areas and activities of the Trust and to all individuals employed throughout the Trust including contractors, volunteers, students, locum, bank/agency staff and staff employed on honorary contracts.

3 Framework

3.1 This section describes the broad framework for this policy. Further information is provided in the associated procedural documents.

3.2 The Chief Nurse shall approve all procedural documents associated with this policy, and any amendments to such documents, and is responsible for ensuring that such documents are compliant with this policy.
3.3 Patients

3.3.1 The patient must be asked how they wish to be addressed and the correct pronouns must be used at all times e.g. she/he/they. Please refer to Appendix B for more information on gender neutral/gender inclusive pronouns.

3.3.2 In some situations an individual’s gender assigned at birth will have important implications for the individual’s subsequent assessment and treatment. It is essential therefore that, where this is applicable, staff make this clear to individuals before assessments, tests or investigations are carried out.

3.3.3 The patient may not have the support of their family with regards to changing gender i.e. they may refer to the patient in terms of their previous gender. If this is the case, staff must refer to the patient using the gender the patient has stated.

3.3.4 The patient must be in a same-sex environment of their preferred gender. However, depending how the patient presents, they may prefer not to be placed on a ward of their identified gender. A discussion must take place with the patient who must be asked if they prefer the privacy of a single room, if one is available, but this must not be arranged without their consent.

3.3.5 Staff must be aware that the Trans patient needs sensitive support for some areas of their care, for example a female may need to shave facial hair; a male may need feminine hygiene products such as sanitary towels and the availability of a sanitary towel bin.

3.3.6 A chaperone must be offered in line with the Trust Procedure for the Use of Chaperones.

3.3.7 The patient may be anxious and sensitive due to having high hormone levels from taking medication (this may be more notable for men transitioning to women). Additionally, the patient may be anxious about how they will be treated while in hospital due to poor previous experiences.

3.3.8 If, in an emergency situation, it is unclear if the patient is Trans (because they are unconscious) the staff need to try and ascertain the person’s preferred gender before contacting the family or moving to a ward. For example, the staff may look for forms of identification the patient has to see if this will indicate their preferred gender.
3.3.9 The patient must be treated as their preferred gender in the transition period. This will include using the preferred gender facilities i.e. toilets and changing areas.

3.3.10 Discrimination from staff, other patients or public will not be tolerated. In the case of staff being discriminatory, the manager must use the relevant policies/procedures to deal with the situation e.g. Disciplinary Procedure.

3.3.11 If other patients or the public are abusive or harass a Trans individual, they must be reminded that this behaviour will not be tolerated by the Trust. The Trust has a duty under the Equality Act 2010 to foster good relations between individuals who have protected characteristics and those who do not.

3.3.12 In order to comply with the Gender Recognition Act, the PDS NHAIS\(^1\) (2012) provides general practitioners with the current process for handling patients’ medical records. In cases where the patient is given a new NHS number, to ensure continuity of care and avoidance of clinical risk, all previous medical information relating to the individual must be transferred to a newly created health record envelope. Any information relating to the patient’s previous gender and name must be removed from the record. The change of name, NHS number and transfer of previous health information into a new health record must take place for both GP records, hospital records and other health records as appropriate.

3.4 Staff

3.4.1 If a member of staff is proposing to go through gender reassignment or to live as the opposite gender, a discussion must take place with their manager to negotiate a plan for how this will be managed. Issues that may need to be considered are:

- Who will inform the staff team of the change? The staff member may prefer the manager to do this;
- Will the change of gender affect the job role i.e. does the role have a “genuine occupational requirement” to be a particular gender;
- What changes to systems/records will be needed, e.g. change of name for payroll;

\(^1\) Personal Demographics Service National Health Application and Infrastructure Service
• Does the team require training or information on Trans issues to support the member of staff and to ensure no discrimination occurs?

3.4.2 The matter must be dealt with sensitively and the involvement of the wider team must be considered with the staff member’s consent and approval.

3.4.3 The staff member must be treated as their preferred gender in the transition period. This will include wearing the appropriate uniform and having access to and using the preferred gender’s facilities i.e. toilets and changing areas.

3.4.4 Time off for medical appointments is addressed in the Trust’s Special Leave Procedure.

3.4.5 There is absolutely no obligation for a transgender person to disclose their gender history as a condition of employment. For most people, this is a very private matter. Many transgender people have experienced prejudice and harassment as a result of disclosure. However, if they do choose to talk about it, it would be unlawful to use this as a reason for not offering them the job. Similarly, it is unlawful to dismiss someone for not for disclosing this a later date. Please refer to the Trust Recruitment and Selection Policy and associated procedures.

5 Implementation and Monitoring

5.1 Implementation

Gender is defined by the Oxford English Dictionary (2017) as the state of being male or female (typically used with reference to social and cultural differences rather than biological ones). Their gender identity may not fit neatly into societal norms regarding gender, for example they may feel they are not totally one gender or the other; they may not identify with the assigned birth gender or they may not identify with any gender at all. | include: coming out to one’s family, friends, and/or co-workers; changing one’s name and/or sex on legal documents; hormone therapy; and possibly (though not always) some form of gender confirmation surgery.

Appendix B    Gender Neutral / Gender Inclusive Pronouns

A gender neutral or gender inclusive pronoun is a pronoun which does not associate a gender with the individual who is being discussed.

Some languages, such as English, do not have a gender neutral or third gender pronoun available, and this has been criticised, since in many instances, writers, speakers, etc. use “he/his” when referring to a generic individual in the third person. In addition, the dichotomy of “he and she” in English does not leave room for other gender identities. This can be a source of frustration to the transgender and gender queer communities.

People who are limited by languages which do not include gender neutral pronouns have attempted to create them, in the interest of greater equality.
