A guide for families

Bereavement Photography Service:

At the University Hospitals Birmingham NHS Foundation Trust, we offer a free bereavement photography service.

This service may be of help to you, as photographs can provide you and your family with memories lost during this time of grief.

If you wish to use this service:

We can arrange to photograph your baby at rest.

During this time, we will capture details of their physical features, including face, hands, and feet. Throughout the session, if you wish to be present during photography, we can photograph you and your baby together, or include other family members in the photographs.

Suggested views

Please see examples of suggested views. If you require something that is not shown here, please ask your midwife or the photographer.
