02/04/2024	Sai Kolli	Consultant	Clinical Private Practice (for medical staff)	Ramsay Health Private Practice	01/12/2020	02/04/2024	Private Practice half day/week	Private practice - independent of the work I do at UHB
02/04/2024	Sai Kolli	Consultant	Secondary Employment	Newmedica Birmingham	03/01/2023	02/04/2024	I am a clinical partner at Newmedica Birmingham based at Aston Cross Business Park. I provide NHS services at this site on 1 and half days and half day research. This post was declared to the trust prior to me starting it and discussed with the clinical director. It has no affect on my work at UHB.	Newmedica UK have partnerships with NHS consultants across England and have robust governance in place to ensure no conflict of interest. In addition the unit is geographically disparate from UHB serving NHS patients predominantly from other localities.

12/09/2024	Dan Griffith	Specialist Dietitian - Intestinal Failure & Nutrition Support	Sponsorship	Nutricia	06/09/2024	10/09/2024	I took part in an NIHR Open Portfolio study investigating a trial product (a 2kcal/ml vegan enteral feed). The trial product was developed and manufactured by Nutricia. This study was completed in October '22 and I was offered to go to the European Society for Parenteral and Enteral Nutrition (ESPEN) conference in 2023 for work completed. I turned down this offer as I took advice from my head of department who advised I could not go. This is because at the time our nutritional products contract was still out to tender and if I had accepted this would've been a significant conflict of interest. Our nutritional product contract has been finalised and I was approached again to go to the conference this year in Milan. Conference fees, accommodation, travel, travel insurance and hospitality were covered. Please note, when I agreed to take part in the study, I was not aware a place at this conference would be offered.	Whilst we now have a nutritional products contract with Nutricia (who had the successful bid), I still ensure that I use a range of nutritional products from a variety of providers. This is because I work in intestinal failure and provide parenteral nutrition most of the time - this means that patients require specialist 'semi-elemental' oral supplements (that Nutricia do not provide) and/or modular supplements (that Nutricia do not provide a full range of). I will also declare this conflict of interest in any presentations/papers etc I contribute to.

							EQALM Board - EQALM is a not for profit European Organisation for EQA providers. I am the secretary. I do not receive any financial reimbursement. I attended EQALM symposium in Vienna in October 2024 and the registration/hotel fees were covered because I assisted in organisation. There is absolutely no conflict for our department NEQAS - we are a member of EQALM. All work is undertaken in my own time, voluntarily and I would have attended the conference as a delegate anyway. UK NEQAS Board - I am a director of the Board of Trustees. This is not for profit charitable umbrella organisation for UK NEQAS providers, which the Trust is one (our department). I receive no financial reimbursement and do not claim any expenses from them. This is a requirement of my role as our department NEQAS is a member of UK NEQAS. Aurevia Scientific Committee for LabQuality Days which is a national meeting, once a year - This is the Finnish EQA provider. I have just started this role. I do not receive any financial reimbursement but my registration/hotel fees for the meeting will be covered due to my role. All work is undertaken in my own time, voluntarily and I would have attended the conference as a delegate anyway. All activities are beneficial to the Trust.

							As a a consultant clinical scientist I was approached through Birmingham Chamber of Commerce as a healthcare physiology professional to advise them about the UK market and situation with sleep diagnostic devices. I receive recompense for my own time (I currently work 4 days/week for UHB) as a professional expert in this area. I advise the Nomics about who are key opinion leaders in sleep in the UK and discuss my professional opinion on the function and usefulness of their sleep study devices.	I have always expressed my links with Nomics up front and have deliberately enabled others in the department leadership to make informed decisions about which sleep equipment they use. I also remind my CDG management of my conflict of interest so I am not involved in making decision about purchasing their devices.

29/01/2025	Ross Elledge	Consultant	Clinical Private Practice (for medical staff)	Elledge Surgical Limited	12/07/2022	29/01/2025	I am a Director and 100% shareholder of Elledge Surgical Limited. This company provides private practice healthcare across multiple sites including Circle Health The Priory Hospital, Spire Parkway Hospital, Ramsay Health The Westbourne Hospital, The Harborne Hospital (part of HCA Healthcare UK) and Midlands Skin. In addition, I provide medicolegal expert witness reports for agencies and solicitors. I also provide interview skills training for ISC Medical and am a co-author for a textbook for interview skills for doctors. Finally, a second company (Elledge Informatics Limited) is currently developing a mobile app (XEDAQ) for temporomandibular disorder (TMD) patients.	My private practice activities are structured to never conflict with DCC activity within the Trust without prior arrangement of cover and/or annual leave arrangements. Patients who are seen on the NHS are never made aware of private practice facilities and private patients who transfer into the NHS are seen in order of priority with other patients and not advantaged by having seen me privately. My medicolegal work never involves University Hospitals Birmingham NHS Foundation Trust or colleagues as Defendants. My interview skills work is never delivered to prospective candidates at University Hospitals Birmingham NHS Foundation Trust and any interview panels that I form part of within the Trust would not handle any candidates who have received direct training from me in this regard within the recent past. Finally, the app XEDAQ is a private practice enterprise that is not recommended to any NHS patients (it is currently still in the development phase).

24-Feb	Jodie Fellows	Consultant Clinical Psychologist	Clinical Private Practice (for medical staff)	none	09/11/2017	2/24/2025	I am a sole practitioner offering private psychological therapy. I primarily see people with trauma and long term physical conditions. In the NHS I see people with dermatological conditions.	I usually see privately funded patients, I have not yet seen anyone for dermatological complaints. Where there was a possibility of doing so I checked with the HCPC and my insurer to check whether this would be considered a conflict of interest. I was advised that it would not be. In the end, the person was able to be seen by a different practitioner sooner and so I have not yet seen anyone privately that it would be possible for me to see in my NHS role.

12/03/2025	Hannah Giles	Consultant haematologist	Speaker engagements	1. Pfizer 2. Johnson and Johnson	4/28/2024	12/06/2024	I have completed and received payments for three speaker engagements for Pfizer in the last financial year. These were all about Eliranatamab. These were talks that took place outside of my contracted working hours with UHB and had been approved by my CSL.	Both Teclistamab and Eliranatamab are approved for TCE patients with relapsed/refractory myeloma at fourth line and beyond. As a department we have a policy to alternate between the two agents (no other BCMA targeting BiTEs are available) and the decision for each patient is made by the multi-disciplinary team not me as an individual and I adhere to the recommendations of the MDT. There is no head to head comparing the two so it is unclear if either is better than the other hence the agreed departmental policy to use both on an alternating basis until further evidence emerges. This is in keeping with the practice being adopted at most other trusts across England.

Other aspect is the work on asthma treatment stewardship and down titration of other asthma treatment for those on biologics and presentations regional and national on severe asthma service delivery models.	My clinical practice is enhanced through the above activities by keeping abreast on the latest of new development in the field and peer interactions through advisory board and networking in conferences. Conflict of interest is always mitigated through adherence to national guidelines in clinical management including NICE criteria of prescribing in severe asthma and through putting patients at the centre of clinical decision of prescribing. Clinical treatment decision are made following multidisciplinary team meeting and that takes in account share decision making with patients which ensures that my/service clinical practice follows the local and national guidelines.

Total value of these was £2,337.13.	The above activities allowed me to share our service model of transition of children / young people with severe asthma at national level to enhance cross learning and the advisory board meeting was concerned with severe asthma service challenges and changes in response to increased demand on NHS services. These activities did not involve any promotional line of one drug over other and are of scientific merit. In addition, conflict of interest is always mitigated through adherence to national guidelines in clinical prescribing such as NICE recommendations of prescribing in severe asthma and by making prescribing decision through multidisciplinary team meeting that takes into account share decision making with patients which ensures that my/service clinical practice follows the local and national guidelines.
