(S&G, CFG)	04/01/2022	1/29/2024	The 4Trauma 4Patients Charity works with QE Trauma patients and their families to provide friendly support during the inpatient period and continues for 3 months post discharge if required. We have multiple donors who donate through UHB Hospital Charity to enable us to provide psychological, wellbeing, welfare and financial signposting support, and these companies also provide some of the ongoing legal case management. We also work alongside other charities, such as Headway and SIA and I am satisfied that there is no conflict of interests here. I do not receive any personal payment from the donors, however I have attended events in support of the 4TAP Charity, which have been funded by our donors.	I do not recommend any specific law firms to my patients, but advise that they should seek legal assistance and will signpost patients and their families to our 4TAP helpline, where they can receive further information. The legal firms work in a 'taxi rank' system and no selection of the firms takes place by my team. This process was approved by the previous Director of Corporate Affairs and is supervised by the CEO of UHB Hospital Charities.

Syed Rizvi	Consultant	Yes - I will provide details in the next section	Gifts (over the value of £25). No	None. Please note it is local authority	2/24/2024	2/24/2024	My previous educational supervisor and acute medical consultant at Heartlands was course director for this FAMUS course at Heartlands hospital. This course for trainees on 24/02/2024 at education centre and the course money was apparently directed collected in UHB trust account as per director. The course faculty from UHB trust and other trusts came in with no incentive at all to teach students/trainees in their spare time on Saturday (non working day for faculty) and course was awarded 6 CPD points by Society of Acute medicine. Once course finished the course director presented all faculty after course a gift voucher of £30 (I think it is from her own pocket and not trust money and we haven't taken any charges to deliver this teaching). However as I was unsure whether this falls under conflict of interest so I'm forwarding this scenario. If this gift voucher still needs to be submitted to charities, then please confirm via email considering above info so far known to me.	We haven't charged UHB trust for this teaching and I declared this gift voucher immediately as unsure if it is a personal gift by director or by UHB? or external?

							Two symposiums one virtual and face to face in Cambridge in which I presented and attend the event: Empowering Patient Choice of Biologic in Severe Asthma. These meetings were governed by the Association of British Pharmaceutical Industry (ABPI) Code of Practice. I share our clinical experience on the patient perspective of contribution in clinical decision making (shared decision) including engaging patients in making informed choices and patient opinion and feedback on treatment responses and overall service received to be an integral part of care delivery in severe asthma. Good practices in relation to this shared decision making was exchanged in this meeting between the different centres present. The value for these activities: £3,657.00	These activities were non-promotional and tasked with improving patients care delivery through shared decision taken in treatment choices, initiation and reflection on outcomes. I shared in these meeting our experience of using inhouse designed patient feedback visual analogue score on biologic treatment outcomes and quality of care received. Such decisions in my clinical practice follow local, national and international guidelines and is always done through MDT decisions.

These presentations included delivering transition service from childhood to adults in asthma in liaison with the Birmingham Children Hospital Team sharing the Birmingham experience, the NEXUS program is a global GSK run severe asthma educational series of events that is tasked to keep knowledge in the field update that for those managing people with severe asthma with a range of activities relate to service delivery improvements, optimising care pathways and patients outcomes and latest on real life studies and clinical trials. I have contributed to a digital advisory board on severe asthma management, worked with severe asthma specialists from other UK centres exploring and sharing practices on current services challenges and future development and draw on panel expertise in ways of improving asthma patients care and clinical outcomes. Working with colleagues from other centres and engaging in all of these activities kept me update and aware and better anticipate this fast developing field and also to	All of my activities were non-promotional and I declared my conflict of interest as needed in relation to these activities (e.g. during delivering talks, publications). The work undertaken has furthered my knowledge through studying and reflecting on conference presentations and allowed me to share such knowledge to fellow colleagues in more summarised and condensed way which was particularly useful for colleagues who did not attend the conference. The advisory board activities was aimed to explore service delivery in severe asthma at large and non of these include promotional material of any specific drug. I always ensure that my clinical practice reflects this so I always adhere to local and national prescribing guidelines such as NICE.

Binoy Skaria	Consultant	Yes - I will provide details in the next section	Sponsorship	I am the director of a limited co	04/11/2017	2/19/2024	I occasionally get speaker fee for speaking at meetings sponsored by pharma companies. In the last 12 months, I do not recall having done any speaker meetings, but I may be doing some in the coming year if there are opportunities. These meetings are very helpful in 2 ways- firstly it helps me to stay up to date with the latest advances in my speciality which in turn helps with better patient management. It also helps to spread knowledge amongst colleagues and GPs. I have organised any courses in the last year but I am hoping to organise educational courses in ECC interpretation, (through the MDSOLVE company) which will be free for all attendees and it will help to spread knowledge and skills to colleagues in both primary and secondary care. Pharmaceuticals companies and other companies like medical defence unions sponsor these events which help to cover the expenses and allow the courses to be viable for the future. However none of the sponsoring companies will have any input into the content of the slides and they will not influence prescription in any manner.	I ensure that the pharma companies do not influence my prescribing behaviour in any way.

Richard Mupanemunda	Consultant	Yes - I will provide details in the next section	Sponsorship	Sanofi	1/17/2024	1/26/2024	I took part in two meetings where clinical experts from around the UK shared their experience of what they consider to be best practice in the identification of infants who are vulnerable to respiratory syncytial virus (RSV) infection and how they organised the administration of passive immunisation against RSV infection using Palivizumab (a humanised monoclonal antibody) to reduce RSV-related hospitalisation and serious complications in high-risk children. Palivizumab was the first monoclonal antibody developed into a vaccine, for use as immunoprophylaxis for children ≤2 years at risk for severe RSV infection. Palivizumab has been the only available agent for RSV prophylaxis and its administration is highly regulated and prescribed against strictly set criteria. Children at high risk of RSV infection include infants with chronic lung disease, or those with a continuing oxygen requirement, congenital heart disease and those with severe combined immunodeficiency. There were also discussions on some of the current research in this field to develop new	I received a payment for my participation in the two meetings and sharing my experience with fellow clinicians who look after similar infants each sharing what they perceive to be best practice in RSV prevention. Prescribing the vaccine however would not be materially influenced as it is highly regulated and prescribed along guidelines set the DOH. My vaccine prescription will not be affected as this is done along strict DOH guidelines.
